The purpose of the Sport and Active Recreation Organisations Survey, run by Sport Wellington, is to collect data from a range of sport and active recreation organisations in the Wellington region.

Participation-Centred Approach

Being participant-centred means focussing on meeting the needs and expectations of the participants.

There is evidence that not taking a participant-centred approach is leading some young people to drop out of physical activity.

Volunteers

The sport and active recreation sector relies heavily on volunteers and many organisations are struggling with volunteer burn-out, lack of volunteers, and lack of capability building suitable for their volunteers.
